'Young Attacks Policy Of CIA in Viet Nam

By Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON: The Central Intelligence Agency use of South Vietnamese to pose as Viet Cong is a dangerous practice, Sen. Stephen M. Young (D., O.) said today.

"They're playing with fire and I intend to tell Adm. Rayborn so," he declared. William F. Rayborn is CIA director.

During his recent five-day visit to Viet Nam, the senator heard CIA had "a small army" of nationals infiltrate into enemy Viet Cong forces. Young said CIA officials admitted the practice, but denied there were several hundred so engaged.
